Congratulatory Message

I am extremely pleased and honored to extend my heartfelt congratulation on the grand occasion of United Nations Day Of Vesak Celebration 2011. This occasion is organized to celebrate the thrice sacred occasions: the Birth, Enlightenment and Passing away of the Shakyamuni Buddha. On behalf of all Bangladeshi Buddhists, it is a great pleasure for me to express my sincere respect and congratulation to the Host the Royal Thai Government and the principal organizer Mahachulalongkornrajavidyalaya University (MCU) for their tireless efforts to make United Nations Day of Vesak Celebration 2011 a success.

This year the 84th Birthday of His Majesty the King is added with this grand occasion. His Majesty the King is the symbol of Love and Prosperity to all the people of Thailand. I wish his long life and good health.

I am participating in the United Nations Day of Vesak since 2006. Every year I eagerly wait for this exciting moment to meet World Buddhist Leaders who come to participate from all over the world. We all share our views and problems and together we try to find ultimate solution. This surely strengthens the relationship between the nations all over the world.

This time we will discuss and will try to find the way for Socio-Economic Development on Buddhist Virtues. In the present world, people are facing socio-economic crisis which are destroying their peace of mind and making them evil. So, the selected topic Buddhist Virtues in Socio- Economic Development is the demand of the time. I believe that embracing the virtues found in Buddhism is the only way to help heal the world.

May I express my sincere thank and congratulation to the Host and organizing committee for inviting me and my delegations and giving me the opportunity to become part of this grand occasion.

I sincerely wish that 8th United Nations Day of Vesak Celebration 2011 a great success, and bring happiness and mindfulness to all participants.

May All Beings Be Happy

Yours in the Dhamma
